The Faces of AIDS

LAS VEGAS – In recognition of World AIDS Day the Southern Nevada Health District has created a video series, “Facing AIDS” available for viewing on its YouTube channel at: <http://www.youtube.com/SNHealthDistrict>.

Meet Ivan, Lane, Maryanne and Tracy: the “faces” behind the disease. Learn how they found out their status and how they have dealt with their own personal health challenges while giving back to the community. They share their stories in the hope their experiences prevent just one infection or encourage others to learn their status.

“Despite the significant advances in treating the disease and efforts to reduce the associated stigma, there are still many misconceptions about the illness and the people living with AIDS or HIV infection,” said Dr. Lawrence Sands, chief health officer of the health district.

“These individuals are not only willing to share their stories in order to put a face to the statistics we often use to discuss the disease, many of them have made it their life’s work to assist other AIDS patients in accessing the resources needed to lead long and healthy lives. Their efforts are truly commendable and each one has a remarkable story to tell,” said Sands.

In Clark County, more than 9,000 Southern Nevadans have been diagnosed with HIV/ AIDS with more than 3,000 deaths from the illness since 1992. More than 3,000 Southern Nevadans are living with HIV and there are more than 2,800 AIDS cases locally. A study by UNAIDS, a joint United Nations program on HIV/ AIDS, noted that approximately 33 million people worldwide are living with HIV.
