If any member of the Board wishes to extend the length of a presentation, this may be done by the Chairman or the Board by majority vote.

Victoria Harding, SNHD employee, and Vice President SNHD SEIU, stated a second contract violation has occurred while the first issue is stuck at a standstill. Ms. Harding indicated issues that she brought forth last year still exist in Environmental Health and the contract violations are in Environmental Health.

Sakena Alhassan, Environmental Health Specialist, Food Program, stated Environmental Health has been suffering a great deal for a long time and their pleas have been ignored. Ms. Alhassan indicated that she has a petition from approximately fifty percent of Environmental Health employees requesting the comments of the 2015 Employee Satisfaction Survey and exit interviews from former Environmental Health employee since January 2014 be provided to the Board. (See Attachment 5 below) Ms. Alhassan hopes that she will not be targeted or retaliated against for speaking at Public Comment. She stated there is no greater reward than working together with industry in a fair and respectful environment. For a Director to refer to a geographic ethnic area as "Nightmare on Elm Street" in a staff meeting or to say that this same group targets themselves in restaurant inspections is not appropriate. She asks the Board to help banish this type of thinking from the Environmental Health Division at the Southern Nevada Health District. Ms. Alhassan stated that the mission of Environmental Health is to protect the health, environment and well-being of Southern Nevada residents and visitors and public health is not protected by restructuring the standby program so responses to imminent health hazards are not until the next day or proposing the announcement of routine unannounced inspections to industry prior to their occurrence. In regard to Article 22.1-F of the current SEIU contracts, it was stated by management in a meeting to Environmental Health staff that "We are shifting the intention of the current contract from temporary permits to permanent permits." To allow this to happen will further decimate employee morale. It is not appropriate for a Director to humiliate staff publicly as happened at the July 18th incident in Laughlin. Ms. Alhassan understands that no work environment is perfect, but cannot accept an environment in which inspectors are disrespected in the field by industry members who have been empowered with the misinformation that inspectors need to be retrained or should obtain master's degrees in inspections as referenced by Ms. Reszetar as at the February 18, 2015 SNHD industry staff meeting. Ms. Alhassan asks for fairness from upper management and respect for employees as professionals and human beings. In summary, Ms. Alhassan asks the Board to restore the ethics and principles that once encompassed SNHD, including honoring the current contract.

Member Giunchigliani noted there are factors related to the survey that require attention and the District is becoming unhealthy again. Member Giunchigliani asked that the survey final results and conclusions be placed on the next agenda for discussion as there are still many issues within Environmental Health that need to be addressed. Jackie Reszetar, Director of Environmental Health, approached the podium and informed the board that she was resigning. Dr. Iser advised that her resignation was not acceptable and that he was going to try and talk her into staying. Dr. Iser added that the Board has seen, in the past, employees intimidate parts of the board or other employees into resigning or not having their contracts extended. Ms. Reszetar, in his opinion, is doing a very good job and the District has made good strides related to working with regulated industry. This has upset a lot of Environmental Health staff because they do not like working with industry in a partnership to try to improve the health and safety of restaurants, pools and other regulated industries. Dr. Iser emphasized that he will not accept Ms. Reszetar's resignation until she puts it in writing. Member Giunchigliani stated that was Dr. Iser's decision, however she does believe that there is favoritism within the industry and the small and/or minority business are not being regulated appropriately by Environmental Health.

Al Sang, Environmental Health Specialist, has been employed by SNHD for ten years. Mr. Sang has not been intimidated to speak and stated that the District is at its lowest point in morale in his ten years. It is not true, as it has been said, that Environmental Health dislikes working with industry. Environmental Health Specialists in food operations do nothing more than work with industry and despite several years of being short staffed and having more demands and requirements, the inspectors have always stepped up and met the challenges. Their professional integrity does not allow for anything less, however, for the record their morale is very low and front line staff is demoralized.

Seeing no one else, Chair Beers closed this portion of the meeting.

Member Dobyne explained that having come from one of the regulated industries under the previous regime, one of his motivating factors for being on this Board is the abuse that Environmental Health piled on the industry. Member Dobyne understands that Ms. Reszetar still has some challenges to overcome, but EH has come a long way from where it used to be, as it used to be deplorable. Member Dobyne has seen great improvements regarding how industry is treated now. Member Giunchigliani clarified that Member Dobyne was referring to the solid waste industry, not the food industry.

X. ADJOURNMENT

The Chair adjourned the meeting at 11:12 a.m.
