Consuming raw or undercooked meat, poultry, seafood, shellstock or eggs may increase your risk of foodborne illness, especially if you have certain health conditions.

These are disclosure asterisks (*). They tell the consumer that these menu items contain animal product offered raw or undercooked.

If a menu item is offered undercooked in several forms, it can have its own asterisked section, listing each different variation:

Hamburgers

Burger 1 Burger 2
Burger 3 Burger 4

Since this café only offers basic eggs and burgers separate sections are not necessary. However, since they are offered "cooked to order", they must still be marked with the disclosure asterisk (*).

This is one of several acceptable reminder statements. It is marked with the exact same symbol (*) used to indicate the disclosed menu items.
