Laws and Regulations Pertaining to Public Accommodation Plan Review

PLAN REVIEW SUBMISSION AND APPROVAL-NAC for reference

NAC 447.100 Construction and remodeling: Application and approval required; plans and specifications. (NRS 439.200, 447.185)

1. Any person who desires to construct a hotel or to remodel or add to an existing hotel must apply in writing to the appropriate health authority on forms furnished by the health authority, giving the name of the hotel and its location together with such other information as may be required. The application must be accompanied by plans, specifications and supporting data.

2. Plans and specifications for hotels must have been prepared by a professional engineer who is registered in this State, an architect who is registered in this State, or a licensed contractor who holds a license issued by the State Contractors' Board in the appropriate classification and subclassification. A licensed professional engineer or a registered architect shall include his seal and signature on any plans and specifications submitted to the health authority. A licensed contractor shall include his signature on any plans and specifications submitted to the health authority.

3. The plans must be drawn to scale, include a north arrow, and be accompanied by proper specifications to permit a comprehensive engineering review.

4. The submitted plans must be approved in writing before any construction is undertaken. [Bd. of Health, Hotel and Motel Reg. No. 7.1.1, eff. 2-5-82]—(NAC A by R008-04, 4-7-2004)

Approvals from all other governmental agencies requiring permits, licenses, or other authorizations must be received by the responsible person prior to the initial operation of any public accommodation facility.

In the event that there are any conflicts between these requirements, the more stringent requirement must be met.

List of Pertinent Governmental Agencies

Licensing Agencies

There are six separate licensing agencies of jurisdiction with which you may need to do business. Please determine the physical area in which your public accommodation facility is located or planned to be located. Once a determination has been made, contact the correct licensing agency from the list below. Call them for further requirements specific to their area of control.

Depending on the nature of your business, you may need both a city and a county business license. Call the agency for advice.

The agency of jurisdiction will provide a packet of information, forms, and checklists to guide you through the process. Once all items from the packet are complete, the packet must be returned to the appropriate agency for processing.
